

Promoting British Values

In the UK we can identify a common set values that bind us together whatever our racial, spiritual and cultural backgrounds. In our daily life at St George we promote these values, ensuring that our young people grow to become well-rounded and knowledgeable British citizens.

As a school, our own Catholic Christian values are guided by the Gospel message of Jesus that provides us with a shared sense of identity and purpose. From this we find a common bond that stretches across faith, community and culture to enrich our modern day British heritage and values.

Our students learn the importance of:

Democracy, social responsibility, the rule of law and equality of all before the law

Equal opportunity regardless of gender, belief, race, ability, sexuality or social status

Individual liberty whilst seeking to resolve conflicts by discussion and co-operation

Mutual respect with no acceptance of bullying, intimidation and the use of violence

Acceptance of different faiths, beliefs, races, cultures, sexualities and backgrounds

Aiming for excellence in school activities so that individuals can grow and thrive

Respecting institutions and organisations designed to help communities, society and social co-operation

Opportunity for all, not compromised by social barriers

Compassion for those in any need, locally, nationally and internationally

Enthusiasm for lifelong learning and achievement

Socially active citizens influencing decision making through the democratic process

Challenging any views or opinions that are contrary to these core values
